Opioid overdose is life-threatening and requires immediate emergency attention.
Recognizing the signs of opioid overdose is essential to saving lives.

Call 911 immediately if a person exhibits any of these symptoms:

- Their face is extremely pale and/or feels clammy to the touch
- Their body goes limp
- Their fingernails or lips have a purple or blue color
- They start vomiting or making gurgling noises
- They cannot be awakened or are unable to speak
- Their breathing or heartbeat slows or stops

An overdose is a MEDICAL EMERGENCY!
Call 9-1-1 immediately

When you call 9-1-1 to save a friend or family member who is overdosing, you won't be arrested or punished for minor drug offenses under a new Ohio law.

Ohio's new Good Samaritan Law now permits people to get and carry overdose reversal medication, naloxone, also called by its brand name Narcan.

You can learn more about naloxone, how to recognize the signs and symptoms of an opioid overdose, make an emergency 9-1-1 call, perform rescue breathing, and administer Narcan, (Naloxone) to someone experiencing an opioid overdose.
